The Spiritual Technology of Ancient Egypt

Sacred Science and the Mystery of Consciousness

EDWARD F. MALKOWSKI

The Spiritual Technology of Ancient Egypt investigates the history of how modern religion and the Age of Science were inspired by the sacred science of the ancients. Building on René A. Schwaller de Lubicz's systematic study of Luxor's Temple of Amun-Mut-Khonsu during the 1940s and '50s, Edward Malkowski shows that the ancient Egyptians' worldview was not based on superstition or the invention of myth but was the result of direct observation using critical faculties attuned to the quantum manifestation of the universe. This understanding of reality as a product of human consciousness provided the inspiration for the sacred science of the ancients—precisely the philosophy modern science is embracing today.

Sheldrake's "Formative Causation," proposes that the form and function of all living things are passed to succeeding generations by "morphogenetic fields" that extend through space and time. This revised and expanded edition records the furor created in the scientific community by the first edition.

Matrix of Creation

Sacred Geometry in the Realm of the Planets

RICHARD HEATH

Sacred numbers arose from ancient man's observation of the heavens, and represent the secrets of cosmic proportion and alignment. The ancients understood that the ripeness of the natural world is the perfection of ratio and that the planetary system—and time itself—is a creation of number. We have forgotten what our ancestors once knew: that numbers and their properties create the forms of the world.
